Research Faculty Needed
at Rush University Medical Center

The Department of Family Medicine at Rush University Medical Center is recruiting experienced Research Faculty to advance its research core. Research Faculty will conduct innovative, rigorous, grant funded research, engage in scholarly activities (peer reviewed publications, presentations, etc.), and mentor other faculty members.

Ideal candidates would be Family Physicians, but we also welcome doctoral-level candidates with training in Behavioral Sciences, Translational Basic Science, Public Health, Social Sciences, Communication, Health Services Research, Bioinformatics or other related fields.

As both a leading academic medical center and major employer, Rush is committed to creating equal opportunity for all, and recruiting a staff that reflects the communities we serve. More than 49% of Rush employees are members of minority ethnic groups, and 72% of employees are women. Rush has earned the LGBTQ Healthcare Equality Leader designation in the Healthcare Equality Index report.

Visit joinrush.org to apply.

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FROM PRIMARY HEALTH CARE RESEARCH TRAINEES

TUTOR-PHC is a one-year, pan-Canadian interdisciplinary research capacity building program that has been training primary and integrated health care researchers and decision-makers from family medicine, nursing, psychology, epidemiology, occupational therapy, social work, education, policy and many other disciplines since 2003.

What is TUTOR-PHC?

This innovative one-year certificate program (April 2022 – April 2023) in primary health care research skills and interdisciplinary theory and processes includes:

- An on-site Symposium in the Spring of 2022 (*Virtual if COVID-19 protocols still in effect)
- Two 3 week online research skill development workshops
- Two 9 week online interdisciplinary discussion groups

Who is accepted to TUTOR-PHC?

- Graduate students and post-doctoral fellows from Canadian Universities
- Mid-career clinicians
- Decision-makers
- Each trainee will be responsible for a $3,000 CAD program fee

Why apply to TUTOR-PHC?

- Primary health care research training – including an intensive one-week Symposium
- Earn University Credit
- Valuable feedback on your own primary health care project
- Mentorship from experienced interdisciplinary primary health care researchers and decision-makers & networking experiences with 230+ pan-Canadian alumni
- Interdisciplinary team experience

Deadline for Applications: December 6, 2021

A National Leader In Research – Innovation – Community

Embracing our traditional strengths in research and innovation:

- Practice-based research through a consortium of five networks under the SNOCAP umbrella
- Behavioral health integration delivering whole person care with compassion
- Developing and implementing new ways to support practices and communities to improve health and health care

Innovating for the future:

- Community mission area focused on the advancement of the role of community and community organizations as partners in caring for patients
- Health equity research to reduce health outcomes disparities while caring for all people
- Pushing the science in new methods like mixed methods and dissemination and implementation science
- Developing innovative new models of care that improve clinical care delivery and patient outcomes
- Advancing health policies for integrated care and health equity

Multiple Faculty Positions with the University of Missouri Department of Family and Community Medicine

The University of Missouri Department of Family and Community Medicine - Columbia, Missouri (USA)

The University of Missouri Department of Family and Community Medicine is recruiting faculty members to contribute to the mission of improving the health of Missourians while creating exemplary care environments for effective teaching of medical students and resident physicians.

The department is thriving and has been ranked as one of the Top 10 in the country for more than 25 years. Family Medicine physicians and residents staff 10 community-based clinics, with five in rural areas, serving 65,000 patients in more than 160,000 annual patient visits. Their research educational pipeline is robust and focused on developing the next generation of primary care researchers.

They want to expand their research enterprise and are searching for candidates to fill multiple positions.

Research, Faculty and Family Medicine Opportunities

Mayo Clinic Division of Family Medicine

Mayo Clinic is an excellent choice for the candidate who is seeking a career in a world-class medical center that is consistently recognized by U.S. News and World Report as one of America's "Best Hospitals." Mayo Clinic's multi-disciplinary group practice focuses on providing high quality, compassionate medical care with a primary value that "the needs of the patient come first." Mayo Clinic is a nonprofit organization with approximately 3,800 physicians and scientists across all locations working in a unique environment that brings together the best in patient care, groundbreaking research and innovative medical education.

Mayo Clinic is seeking board-certified/board-eligible Family Medicine Physicians to join our practices. Practicing Family Medicine at Mayo Clinic provides a rewarding career that promotes excellence in patient-centered care. Become a member of our team where opportunities exist in community-based and academic medicine practice settings with potential for research and education. Along with flexible options at our various locations, our practices include: traditional (outpatient/inpatient), faculty, research, mostly outpatient, outpatient only, and OB opportunities.

HRSA T32 Primary Care Research Fellowship

PennState Health

Penn State College of Medicine, Hershey, PA

The Fellowship is recruiting fellows for July 1, 2022; it provides career training towards academic medicine with research independence. Eligible candidates include MDs, DOs, PhDs and other doctoral level trained individuals with research interest in primary care.

Fellows participate in actively-mentored, individualized training involving coursework, research, and seminars using an interdisciplinary, team-oriented, translational approach. Faculty are experienced mentors and successful researchers with mature portfolios. Fellows' research can span primary care-relevant topics, however our focus is on addiction, mental health disorders, access to care, and other "diseases of despair".

For more information:

To learn more visit <https://research.med.psu.edu/departments/family-and-community-medicine/t32-primary-care-research-fellowship/> or email drabago@pennstatehealth.psu.edu.

Penn State Health is fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is unapologetically expressing itself through every person's perspectives and lived experiences. We are an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, marital status, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, veteran status, and family medical or genetic information.

Professor and ORPRN Director

ORPRN

Oregon Rural Practice-Based Research Network

www.ohsu.edu/orprn

Oregon Rural Practice-based Research Network at Oregon Health & Science University

The Oregon Rural Practice-based Research Network at Oregon Health & Science University is a statewide practice-based research network, working with over 400 primary care practices and community partners in the last 5 years. ORPRN has approximately 50 faculty and staff, and has several multi-year large scale projects currently underway. ORPRN's mission is to improve health outcomes and equity for all Oregonians through community partnered dialogue, research, coaching, and education.

The Director will be a physician or doctoral level researcher (MD, DO, DNP, PhD, etc.) and will oversee ORPRN's broad variety of clinical and health services research, quality improvement projects, practice transformation, and education efforts around the state. The Director must have a strong passion for, and experience in, primary care health delivery to address the health of individuals and communities, especially in rural and underserved areas. The director will be responsible for overall leadership and direction of ORPRN, and will work collaboratively with the ORPRN Advisory Board and Leadership team.

Family Medicine – Faculty Physician Researcher (Open Rank)

The Department of Family Medicine at the University of North Carolina

To learn more about this position, please visit the link at: <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/214483>

The Department of Family Medicine at the University of North Carolina is well-poised to meet the call for more primary care research. The transition to value-based care, addressing health disparities, managing chronic disease, preventive health, and more, will require robust primary care with more investment in research, training, and practice. Our department is committed to addressing the dearth of research that investigates the mechanisms by which primary care works to advance the health of people and populations. We have a particular interest in studying value-based care, identifying practices — care delivery models, payment and incentive structures, optimized team structure, integrated behavioral health, workforce configurations, workflows, and data analytics that improve the delivery, quality, safety, accessibility, equity, and affordability of high-quality primary care. The department is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and encourages applications from underrepresented minority groups.

Our team members advance the tripartite mission of the UNC School of Medicine, including excellent patient care, superior teaching, and impactful research. We support our faculty with professional development opportunities in the department, in the institution, and nationally. Each faculty member is supported by a mentoring subcommittee that helps with career planning, counseling around career goals, and regular review of academic activities.
